

City Grade Schools Graduate 136 Pupils

High School Auditorium Filled at Grammar Schools Commencement Exercises—Present Delightful Program—Dr. Michael Congratulates and Advises Graduates—The Graduating Class.

The last of the graduating exercises for the city schools occurred Wednesday afternoon, when the third Commencement Exercises of the Kingston Grammar Schools were held at the High School auditorium in the presence of an audience of parents, friends and school-mates of the class, which exceeded the seating capacity of the auditorium. It was made very plain that the High School must be enlarged, for it was noted that one hundred and thirty students graduated from the High School on Tuesday evening while one hundred and thirty-six pupils graduated from the grammar schools, and there are so many such classes graduating each year.

With flower baskets and bouquets filling every bit of available space, an inspiring picture was presented as the curtains were drawn and the class was seen standing on the platform behind the floral footlights.

Dr. Myron J. Michael, the greatly loved superintendent of the city schools, presided, and in opening the program told the story of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the great New England poet and transcendentalist, taking his friend Oliver Wendell Holmes into his garden and showing him a magnificent rose in full bloom, saying to Dr. Holmes, "Whenever I am in the presence of this rose, I am in the presence of you." So, Dr. Michael said one felt like doffing his hat in the presence of such an audience as he faced, and the like of which gathered there in January and June. He saluted the charming boys and girls, so full of promise, in what he believed to be the largest class graduated from the Grammar Schools, and also the parents who by their presence honored the event. The parents were particularly welcomed as being more than any one else interested in the graduates, though he hoped that the teachers held second place in their affections.

The program opened with a selection, "Lilac Waltz" by Ascher, played very well by the Grade School Orchestra, conducted by Leonard H. Sime, supervisor of music in the schools.

The first recitation, Will Carlton's "The Little Black Eyed Rebel," was given with spirit and in a clear voice by Mary Guzjak of School No. 1.

Charles Pfommer, an up-standing lad from School No. 2 in his recitation, "Did He Get By?" (Author unknown) proved conclusively that "getting by," is a bad start for success in life.

It might well be said right here that it was quite possible to readily hear all that each speaker had to say and they all showed a fine appreciation of what they were saying.

The program was varied at this point, with a selection by the Boys Glee Club, which sang very pleasingly, "Lassie of Mine" by Walt. The clear boy sopranos were unusually well supported by some fine altos, and the boys sang as if they liked it, even though they had to use their voices while the girls went ahead of them in that they memorized their songs.

Helen M. Cragin of School No. 1 gave a recitation of a sort most unusual for a girl, but one which she presented splendidly—"Education in Democracy." (Author unknown).

Though the story, according to all authentic histories of Beethoven, can have little foundation in fact, Frances R. Peilham, School No. 1, told admirably the anonymous tale of "Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata."

Another anonymous article entitled "The Duty of Intelligence"—and judging just from this program, what a number of really good, unselfish writers there seems to be—was the very unusual subject of the recitation given by George Quinette Smith of School No. 6, in most convincing fashion.

Then the large Girls' Glee Club entered the program with a selection, "Stars Brightly Shine," by Bronie, being accompanied at the piano by some of their own number. Staging and memory it was possible for them to watch more closely their leader and their song was delightful.

A very amusing recitation, "An Overworked Electrician" by Carolyn Smith, at the same time pointed the finger at the difference what I said, what words I used, so long as I gave an emotional display," and Mrs. M. L. Smith of School No. 7 did justice to the recitation.

The final recitation, entitled "Sunset" by Dorothy Mac Fadden, an original, was suitably given by her.

Girl Burned When Firecrackers Set Fire to Clothing

Mary, Five-Year-Old Daughter of Charles Altamari of Gill Street, in Benedictine Hospital in Critical Condition as Result of Burns.

Wednesday afternoon while some boys were setting off firecrackers on Gill street, Mary Altamari, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Altamari of 31 Gill street, was critically burned when one of the firecrackers set fire to her clothing. The child's screams brought her father rushing to her assistance, and as he reached her he found her clothing almost entirely burned from her body. In trying to extinguish the flames the father was severely burned on the arm.

A hurry call was sent to police headquarters and the city ambulance in charge of Officers Keresman and Simon Wood rushed the girl to the Benedictine Hospital where her burns were dressed by Dr. Francis E. O'Connor, who also dressed the father's burns.

The girl was burned about her entire body, from the neck down, and her condition is critical at the hospital, although today she was reported as resting somewhat more comfortably.

From what could be learned the little girl was playing in the yard at her home and hearing the discharge of the firecrackers went out on the sidewalk. In some manner the child's clothing suddenly caught fire, and before the flames could be extinguished she was severely burned about her entire body.

REGENTS' EXAMINATION PAPERS CALLED BACK

Albany, June 27 (AP).—On the basis of representations that Part 2 of the recent Regents' examinations in plane geometry was exceedingly difficult, the State Department of Education has called back all papers rated at about 50 per cent by the teachers.

It was explained at the office of Dr. Avery W. Skinner, director of examinations, that the papers in this class will be examined with an idea of determining a fair adjustment on the basis of an exceedingly difficult examination. This does not mean, it was pointed out, that fifty per cent will be established as a passing mark, but an effort will be made to do justice to the pupils who were subjected to a test that many persons consider to have been too hard. The regular passing mark is 65 per cent.

DON'T TAKE MORE THAN 25 PERCH PER DAY.

Conservation Commissioner Alexander Macdonald has notified the game protectors of the state that under the game law section that must be enforced, no person will be permitted to take more than 25 perch per day. This has been the law for several years but has never been more effectively so far as the prosecution of violators has been concerned. The orders now are that it must be enforced. It is stated that a move will be made at the next meeting of the legislature to have the number increased.

ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT IN FINN CASE IS TAKEN

Another adjournment in the trial of Edward P. Finn, Jr., an Albany contractor, whose firm did some of the work on the reconstruction of the city hall, was taken on Wednesday in police court, when Finn's lawyer asked for an extension of time so that he could make application to county court to have the case considered by the grand jury. The order is returnable on July 5. Finn was arrested on June 8 by Sterling Bajer of Fair street, who charged Finn with driving a car while intoxicated.

Building Floats For Baby Pageant

The floats are being rapidly built for the baby pageant in the forthcoming merchants' exposition. Some very beautiful ideas are being carried out and although this is the first baby parade ever held in the city it will exceed the fondest expectations of those who will view the spectacle on the night of July 1.

E. Frank Flanagan has been named grand marshal of the parade committee and is choosing his aides.

Requests have been made by mothers of babies entered to start the parade from the West Shore railroad depot instead of from pageant headquarters, in order that the line of march may extend up Broadway to the Exposition grounds. One of the booths in the merchants' division in the forthcoming exposition has been reserved by the Book of Knowledge, known as the children's encyclopedia, edited by the Grollier Co. of Boston, Mass.

The Kingston's Favorite Daughter Election, Ella Johnson of the Festenden Shirt Co. leads, with Beatrice Hart, representing Van Slyke & Horton Clear Co., second; Florence Barth of the Jacobson Shirt Co., third; Leona Van Demark of the Universal Road Machinery Co., fourth and Nellie Elmendorf of the Farm Bureau, fifth.

Raymond Houghaling still leads in the Industrial Boy contest, but Joseph Dunne, Warren Bartlett, William Israel and John Cave are now nip and tuck and undoubtedly one of these five boys will become the proud possessor of the coveted first prize.

Public Masses In Mexico Friday

Mexico City, June 27 (AP).—The first public Masses in almost three years will be said in Mexican churches Friday. The first service will be at the Church of Nuestra Señora De La Guadalupe, the national shrine, with others following in other capital city altars.

Archbishop Pascual Diaz announced last night eleven churches, including that of "Our Lady of the Guadalupe," were returned to the priests yesterday, and that three others were to be given back today. The priests, taking charge of the churches returned registered accordingly to law.

Both Archbishop Diaz and Archbishop Y Flores of Michoacan will officiate at the Guadalupe Mass. The church itself has been turned over to Father Manuel Rodriguez, who for thirty years prior to its abandonment August 1, 1926, had charge of it.

In the three years since then he, attired in civilian clothes, has stood guard over his former charge at a nearby street corner.

Discuss Problem With MacDonald

London, June 27 (AP).—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Ambassador Hugh Gibson discussed methods of approach on the naval disarmament problem with Premier Ramsay MacDonald on Tuesday, but reached no definite form. Ambassador Dawes announced this afternoon at a press conference.

Announcements regarding matters of procedure in attacking the naval problem must be made by those in authority in the countries concerned and not by ambassadors who are merely agents, he said.

Ambassador Dawes considered his discussions with Ambassador Gibson, who left for Brussels today, were of the greatest value because of Mr. Gibson's intimate knowledge of the disarmament question.

Not proceeds $ 809.59

On behalf of the Post I wish to thank all those splendid men, women and children who by their loyalty, energy and devotion made this splendid result possible. Again our poppy workers have kept the faith with our disabled and destitute comrades and we stand at attention and salute them. By their unselfish work in this great cause they have made possible another year of helpful service to our disabled comrades which shall always be one of the most sacred duties and highest privileges of the American Legion.

Last year 13,000 poppies were sold for $1,431.15. This year we sold 11,800 for $1,207.09. The slight shrinkage in sales and receipts was caused by carrying into effect our resolution not to sell poppies in Kingston before Poppy Day, while poppies were sold by our competing comrades of the V. F. W. some days in advance of Poppy Day. In view of this, I think our workers accomplished even more than last year and I congratulate them on their splendid achievement. The generous citizens of Kingston and vicinity have our heartfelt thanks for their support and cooperation in this fine work.

Unless some other plan is adopted which will change existing conditions, I recommend that next year the two veteran organizations agree as follows:

- (1) That all the poppies of both organizations be delivered to and kept by a disinterested custodian, acceptable to both, and released to the two Poppy Chairmen at 6 p. m. two days before Poppy Day.
- (2) That the villages surrounding Kingston, where no veteran organization exists, be free territory where poppies may be sold any time after being released by the custodian.
- (3) That the day before Poppy Day be set aside for factory canvass in Kingston.
- (4) That no poppies be sold elsewhere in Kingston until Poppy Day and that none be sold in the city after Poppy Day.
- (5) I believe this will make impossible any misunderstanding, remove friction and ill-feeling, and preserve the interest and support of the public in the patriotic purposes for which Poppy Day is observed.

Action Taken by Post.

It was voted that $150 of the poppy day receipts be sent to state headquarters of the American Legion as Kingston's contribution to the State Welfare Fund which is used among the various veterans' hospitals in the state, and for the widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

Hereafter it has been the practice of the Post to divide the poppy receipts with the Legion Auxiliary. Because the Post always disburses considerably more for local welfare work each year than its share of the poppy receipts, it was voted to establish a joint fund, under the control of the Post, against which both Post and Auxiliary will draw in payment of bills for welfare and relief.

Last year the Post received for welfare work $322.27 and spent for the same purpose $549.23, according to a report submitted by Treasurer Edward J. Hillis.

Welfare Chairman P. S. Jones reported for the past month that the Post had furnished Army squads for three deceased World War veterans, not members of the American Legion, and one deceased member of the G. A. R.

Commander Jacob reported that Kingston Post had decorated the graves of 128 World War veterans on Memorial Day, in cemeteries in Kingston and surrounding villages, with a large pointed plant and an American flag and that an official

Canfield Replaced Chance to Help As Administrator Camp Happyland In Albany District

Sale of Beer in District Caused Prohibition Commissioner Doran to Become Dissatisfied With Work Canfield Was Doing—Canfield Becomes Legal Supervisor.

An Associated Press despatch from Washington says Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced Wednesday that Palmer Canfield, prohibition administrator at Albany, would be replaced July 17 by Harry M. Dengler, who will become acting administrator of the northern New York district.

Canfield, who has had much legal experience in prohibition work, the commissioner said, on that date would become legal field supervisor of the northeastern states, and commissioner added that no question concerning Canfield's personal character had been considered, but he felt that a change in the administration there was in the best interests of the service.

The situation at Albany, which has attracted the attention of prohibition headquarters for several months, resulted recently in a statement by Commissioner Doran that he was dissatisfied with the work Canfield was doing because of illegal contest was being sold in the northern New York district.

Canfield was summoned to Washington about a week ago for a conference. He was at Washington Wednesday but had nothing to say regarding his new assignment.

Minor Political Leaders Blamed.

Washington, June 27 (AP).—Reports that minor political leaders in the northern New York prohibition district had told stories of their influence with New York state political leaders to obtain protection for breweries prompted the treasury investigation which led to the transfer of Palmer Canfield from his post as administrator at Albany.

This was disclosed today by Assistant Secretary Lowman, who said conditions in the district had been remedied.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran in commenting on the situation said minor changes in the staff of the district would follow.

According to reports to the treasury, the minor politicians interested in the sale of illegal beer would seek out prohibition agents and tell them not to be too severe in their examination of the breweries' products, as they were close friends of outstanding politicians who approved of their actions.

As soon as the reports reached the treasury special agents were sent into the field and two breweries were seized.

Lowman said the minor politicians have persisted in their efforts to help the sale of illegal beer. He would not say whether any action was contemplated against them.

GROUP INSURANCE FOR HUTTON CO. EMPLOYEES.

Newark, N. J., June 27.—Sixty-eight wage earners employed by the Hutton Company of Kingston, N. Y., manufacturers of bricks, have acquired group life insurance through a policy placed with the Prudential Insurance Company of America. The amount involved is $65,000.

The policy was written by W. Pratt, agent, and E. E. Withers, assistant superintendent, of the Kingston district, located at 238 Wall street. Each employee is insured for $1,000. The insurance is of the contributory type, the Hutton Company sharing with its employees in the payment of the premiums.

Because of the large number of lives involved, all medical examinations were waived. All new employees are eligible to the protection upon enrollment.

Attend Convention.

Anthony Nekos, James Foundas and Leo Lario of this city went to Newburgh on Wednesday to attend a convention of the Ahepa, a society that has a large membership of former Greek people, who in order to become members must have become naturalized to United States citizenship.

American Legion grave marker had been placed on the grave of each veteran who had been a member of the American Legion.

It was voted at the meeting to petition the secretary of the navy to designate one of the newly built cruisers now under construction by the name of Kingston in honor of this city.

The Americanism committee reported the result of the recent flag code contest and on the junior baseball program which will soon get underway. The winners of the Kingston League will play Saugerties in Saugerties on July 4, in the afternoon for the American Legion junior championship of Ulster county, the winners to play in the district elimination.

Ice cream and cake were served by the Auxiliary.

The next meeting of the Post will be on July 19, when officers for the coming year will be elected.

Beaten Until He Signed Confession, Declares Butts

Claims Deputy Sheriff Constable Beat Him With Rubber Hose and Sergeant Phinney Threatened Him With Blackjack—Says Henry Ford, Another Colored Prisoner, Stole Gerlach's $400.

Herbert Butts, twice convicted of crimes in the state of New Jersey and at present serving time in the Ulster county jail where he has been since last September, took the stand in his own behalf Wednesday afternoon and testified in regard to the stealing of Benjamin Gerlach's money in the Ulster county jail where Gerlach was being detained by the police on a charge of driving his car while intoxicated. Butts told a most remarkable story on direct examination but when cross-examined by Mr. Traver he admitted several shortcomings in his story. He admitted after considerable questioning that he had been confined to the Trenton prison in New Jersey for possession of narcotics and that he had also been at Culver prison for grand larceny.

As was expected, Butts denied that he had anything to do with the taking of Gerlach's $400 and placed the blame on one Henry Ford, another colored man who was in jail. Ford, according to the country officials, was released from jail and was working at McCabe's restaurant when Gerlach was admitted. According to Butts, Henry was in jail and was still in the kitchen when Gerlach was admitted but left 10 or 15 minutes later.

Declares He Was Beaten.

Butts testified that he knew Ford took the money but he did not tell the officials of that fact even though they beat him with a rubber hose and threatened him with a blackjack until he signed a confession stating that he took the money. Butts claimed that Deputy Sheriff Constable beat him with a rubber hose, which he described very minutely, until there were welts on his body which it took several days to heal, and that Sergeant Phinney threatened him with his blackjack. He testified that Constable and Phinney demanded a confession and when he refused to make one he was beaten with the hose. He removed his shirt and displayed to the jury scars on his body which he said were made by the rubber hose. He refused to make any statement although he knew Ford was the guilty man and he was again beaten. Then not desiring further beating he made his mark on a confession although he could write if he wanted to.

Butts talked at great length during his examination and said he saw Gerlach brought in. He was in the kitchen at the time. Henry Ford was in that part of the building lying on his bunk. Ten or fifteen minutes after Gerlach came in and talked to Ford and then Ford was released. He had been in that part of the jail a few minutes before he was released after Gerlach came. There had been time for him to relieve Gerlach of the money, according to Butts's statement. That night Ford came in late. He told Butts he had some money and asked Butts if he thought he would be searched when he left the jail. He was anxious over his chance of getting the money out of the jail without being discovered.

Next day Ford left and said he would return later for the money. He came back and visited Butts who was locked up. Butts said he had been removed from the trusty room and locked up over the money which had been stolen. Ford wanted to get down stairs and get the money which he claimed he had placed in the lower part of the building. Butts said he new Ford was the guilty person.

Denies Taking Money.

He admitted that he had gone alone to feed Gerlach shortly after admission. He denied taking the money.

Butts said for several days after he was beaten up he was confined to the lower floor of the jail alone and no one was permitted to see him. He had no water to wash with, and "Big Pete," another colored man, brought him ointment to put on his injuries. During the beating Butts said he "holed" and the windows were closed so no one would hear him. He denied having told "Peep-sight" Robert Henry to deliver a message to Pearsall and Fisher telling them to get out of town so as not to testify. Fisher is here but Pearsall has fled. When Jacob Merrihew came with a second paper for Butts to sign he made his mark in the presence of Merrihew and Fred Stout without any protest in order to keep from getting a further beating. He said all of the jail officials knew of the beating administered by Constable and Phinney.

Cross-examined by Mr. Traver, Butts denied first that he had been convicted of grand larceny. He said for ten years he had been in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and on the brickyard near Kingston. He could remember no other place. He resided at 65 Ann street here and worked on the yards some. He admitted last year he worked about a month.

Butts said he understood the money had been found in a crevice in the wall of the trusty room over his bed.

Denies Breaking Jail Rules.

He said he was at present on the third tier of cells in the jail alone. He was asked if his confinement to the third gallery now and his confinement on the lower floor

Hoover Halts Dry Propaganda Plans

Washington, June 27 (AP).—President Hoover personally intervened today to halt the plan of the prohibition unit to use the public schools of the country for dissemination of prohibition law observance propaganda.

The president's first information concerning the issuing of a pamphlet proposing a course of prohibition study in the public schools was gleaned from the newspapers. He immediately signified his emphatic disapproval to treasury officials, who said they themselves were unaware of the proposed campaign.

Using proceeds from a fund of $50,000 made available by Congress for the dissemination of prohibition literature, Miss Anna D. Sutter, of the statistical and educational division of the prohibition bureau, had caused the pamphlet to be prepared for general circulation at the meeting tomorrow of the National Education Association at Atlanta. She also had gathered other literature in her proposed campaign of education.

Legion Gives $50 For Scout Camp

At the last meeting of Kingston Post of the American Legion it was voted to appropriate the sum of $50 to provide a diving platform and tower at the Ulster County Boy Scout camp near New Paltz.

Lamoureaux-Hacket Post of the Legion, at Saugerties, has ordered two fine rowboats for use of the camp, and Marlborough Post has promised to furnish a large float, to be used as a dock for the various craft at the camp to tie up to.

The American Legion is pledged to do everything in its power to foster the Boy Scout movement and Legion Posts throughout the United States are aiding the regular scout authorities whenever possible.

The Legion believes that the Boy Scout movement, if properly administered, makes for strong bodies, clean minds and good citizenship, and that Boy Scouts never become crooks and criminals.

 MARLBOROUGH *****

Marlborough, June 27.—There were about 50 present at the banquet held at St. Mary's Hall by the Marlborough Baseball League last week. Following the dinner was a program of talks and a dance concluded the evening. The Rev. E. J. LeCompte, a speaker of the evening, talked on "Christian Athletics." The Rev. J. F. Hanley gave a brief and interesting talk on Sportsmanship and Harry Russell told briefly of the services that the young men of the village might be to the town. Baseball was discussed by Matthew Casey and Richard Gibney. Dr. Russell of New York city, who was to have given an address, was unable to be present. A Marlborough orchestra furnished music for the dance and although it was too warm an evening for dancing, the proceeds from the dinner fully paid expenses. Those in charge of the banquet were Frank Chimera, catering; Michael Berkery and Matthew Casey, hall arrangements; Richard Gibney, music; Victor Froemel prepared the dinner. This was the first affair of its kind that has been held in Marlborough and was considered successful. Those who were in the Community Baseball League this season strongly vote for a league next year and hope it may be organized early in the season.

Here's salt that laughs at rainy weather!

INTERNATIONAL SALT is not just a "fair weather friend." Not at all. It's as faithful when the clouds come close as when the world is sunny. Damp days don't daunt it in the least.

Most salts, you know, get hard and lumpy in a moist, humid atmosphere. International Salt never does. It is guaranteed to be smooth and fine, and free-running always. Fill all your salt shakers with it and you'll never need to pound the dinner-table again!

Best of all, International is as clean and pure and savory as salt can be made. It's inexpensive too. A big box costs only a nickel. Ask for it at your grocer's.

Velvet Is Smart as Summer Wear

Material Almost Transparent
Has Very Delicate Surface.

Velvet for summer wear has arrived. It has been urged again and again by French modistes, and put forward in attractive models of different styles. But velvet as something new and luxurious has so long been associated with winter wardrobes that women have accepted only the occasional jacket or some chic accessory, for this season. Now, however, since it is so fashionable for the summer, the velvet wrap is to be ultra smart, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. It is an utterly different fabric that is used, one almost literally transparent, with a surface almost as delicate as that of a butterfly's wing, and because of its fragile texture more suitable for wraps than for gowns.

At a recent fashion review of unusual brilliance evening wraps, nine of which were made of velvet, drew special attention. They were all clinging creations of several designs, on the whole exceedingly simple, but in no way commonplace. Some had deep flounces that swayed and rippled about the figure or were finished with other details that gave them grace. Whatever trimming was used went into the scheme of the wrap, and there was an absence of ornaments and buckles.

The triumph of the collection was a cape coat of white velvet made with long, moderately wide sleeves, which were gathered in a cluster of platings to give a mousquetaire effect from the elbow to the hand—which was covered to the fingertips. The wrap was cut three-quarters length on the lines of a plain dolman cape, but appeared shorter as it was draped about the figure and held at one side. The bottom was finished with a bounce deep at the back and tapering toward the front, and a row of huge roses of the velvet across the neck of the neck took the place of a collar.

Ideal Wrap for Bride.

The impression made by this model was that it would be an ideal wrap for a bride. It was shown in several variants using new colors, particularly the "off shades," one of cool champagne being lined with pale gold, another of aquamarine blue with silver; apricot, peach and a symphony in color borrowed from the garden nasturtium, all yellow, orange and brown.

Only one wrap shown in that revue was fur-trimmed—one in a soft shade of beige with a collar of fox—which indicates that a roll collar, a part of the material and trimming of large fabric flowers are considered more modish. Yet some of the prominent designers are adding a touch of fur to their evening wraps; usually a collar, although sometimes a band around the bottom, as Redfern thinks some of his wraps whatever the material of which they are made.

One of the most striking wraps created by Lelong for his spring collection might easily be included for the autumn, for it is made of black

The cape-coat is another model that is certain to have a vogue, for it is new, smart and above all else, practical. It differs only slightly from the tailored coat for the street. One, of velvet, is shown in a glowing shade of ruby. The coat itself is made straight and simple and full length, and the cape, which is gathered softly at the neck, hangs cleanly over the shoulders to the waistline and is edged with large fur roses made of the velvet. Three of these splash the neck at the back.

Cape-Coat to Be Popular.

Even though velvet is the favorite of the hour, at least for American women, other beautiful materials are shown in the advance models. Some of the French houses appear to have chosen one particular fabric, or perhaps more, as their special mark. Louisboulenger is using heavy rep silk with a rich, dull surface which she trims with marabout, always in the same tone, and sometimes with a bit of embroidery. Lucien Lelong plans his faith to velvet, using much black, and Molyneux is making delightful evening wraps of georgette, with many frills.

Formal Wrap for Summer of Coral Velvet. New Cape Top is Used.

A material that is generally accepted is crepe satin. Some sweetly pretty wraps are made of this, with the satin side out, in the ruffled cape model, with usually a scarf neck arrangement. The most pretentious styles show clever uses of both the lustrous and the dull surface, which is most attractive in coats with cape collars. As this is shown in a pistache model, the coat itself and the cape are made with the bright side out, and a wide band on the dull side is stitched around the bottom of the cape. This model, with the same contrasts of fabric, is also attractive in the quieter shades, such as beige, corn silk and the soft yellows, greens and grays.

One evening coat of french gray velvet is printed with a pattern of graceful plumes in pastel blue, mauve and green, and trimmed with finely etched lines of steel beads, and has a collar of blue fox. The sleeves are long, with the fashionable cluster of shirring to gather fullness toward the bottom.

Several of the new velvet evening coats are lined with satin of precisely the same shade, and have wide facings down the front of metallic cloth, which is used also to line the neck scarfs. This treatment of the neck serves as a trim finish for the plain coat model, on which no fur or other trimming is used.

Rich Color Effects.

Evening ensembles in which the new lustrous velvet wraps are the high light offer the possibility of artistic creations between wrap and gown. The artistry appears largely in the selection of colors. In the new collections are countless ensembles in which the gown, wrap and wrap lining are all in one tone. This combination in a costume all of pale gold—the gown of lace and chiffon and the wrap of transparent velvet lined with satin—produces a poetic creation, and the scheme is equally felicitous in other ensembles of pastel shades and of the vivid colors.

The quiet colors—grays and browns—are little used by the French modistes, Molyneux and Ardane excepted. Patou goes in for the rich destruction colors, which are very much liked on this side, and Lucien Lelong revels in greens and blues. Greens are less intense than the jades and bright greens of last season and more of the new and more delicate shades are shown. These are the yellow-greens, pistache, nile, abashite, chartraine and a new one, tilleul.

Much white is seen in ensembles. Many are white throughout, except for a touch of color, which is entirely new as a "treatment." An ensemble conceived by an American artist consists of a dress of white chiffon and white satin faced with coral and a wide-sleeved coat of scarlet velvet lined with white. This costume has no trimming but a large fur bow with long ends placed at the back of the neck.

Sulphur Shade.

Sulphur is a popular color and effective in combination with dull greens or brilliant blue.

Bus Action in Supreme Court

John A. DuBois and Harry Elliott Seek Injunction Restraining Von Gonsic Brothers From Operating Bus in Town of Lloyd.

An action for a permanent injunction restraining Von Gonsic Brothers from operating a bus line within the town of Lloyd from New Paltz to Highland river landing was taken up before Judge McNamee in supreme court today. John A. DuBois and Henry Elliott, who have the consent of the town of Lloyd to operate a bus line within the town of Lloyd, seek the injunction order.

The action grows out of a rivalry between the two towns for operation of a bus line. Both lines are now operating between Highland Landing and New Paltz village. The town of Lloyd through its town board has granted DuBois & Elliott consent to operate within the town of Lloyd, but New Paltz village board and New Paltz town board have not granted permission to the DuBois-Elliott line while New Paltz has granted its consent for Von Gonsic Brothers to operate within the town and village of New Paltz and has denied the consent of DuBois & Elliott.

A. W. Lent appeared for DuBois and Elliott and John W. Eckert appears for Von Gonsic Brothers other than John J. Van Gonsic, who is represented by William A. Kaercher. Argument of counsel consumed the morning session and an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock when the case will be resumed. A number of witnesses for plaintiff were present.

Defendant claims that by illegally operating the bus line within the town of New Paltz where no consent has been secured the plaintiffs have no standing at law. The defendants admit that they are operating illegally over the route but contend that DuBois & Elliott are also operating illegally through the town of New Paltz and the village of New Paltz, and the court therefore has no right to grant the injunction.

Mr. Eckert for Von Gonsic Brothers, stated he would be willing to consent to the granting of an injunction order restraining Von Gonsic Brothers from picking up or discharging passengers wholly within the town of Lloyd on the route which DuBois & Elliott have a cer-

Blame Incendiary For Utica Fire

Utica, N. Y., June 27 (P).—An explosion and fire, said by firemen to have been started by an incendiary, early today destroyed the State Theatre building here with a loss estimated at from $450,000 to $700,000. According to the fire fighters, a chemical often used by incendiaries, was found in the ruins.

In addition to the theatre and several smaller stores, the building housed a furniture store which suffered a loss estimated at $50,000. The proprietor of a nearby grocery was questioned by police.

Arrested for Questioning.

Boston, June 27 (P).—Michael Rocco, alias "Mickey the Wise Guy," Boston gangster, wanted by police of New York for questioning in connection with the murder of Frank Marlow, New York and Boston racketeer, was arrested here today.

Probe for Leviathan.

Washington, June 27 (P).—Assistant Secretary Lowman said today he would order an immediate investigation into reports that the Leviathan was selling liquor on east bound trips from New York.

St. Paul Dinner.

The Busy Bee Club of St. Paul Lutheran Church will hold a dinner and outing at Astoria's farm. Flatbush, Sunday, July 7. Dinner will be served at 1 p. m., rain or shine. All welcome.

Big Government Surplus Indicated

Washington, June 27 (P).—Secretary Mellon said today that the latest estimates indicated that the government would conclude the fiscal year June 30 with a surplus of $150,000,000 or $170,000,000.

This balance would be on hand, he said, after the $50,000,000 allowed railroads for the retroactive mail rate increase had been paid.

Income returns for the present month up to June 24, including the second quarter's payment of the 1928 tax, have totaled $545,725,098, an increase of $90,000,000 over the same period last year. Income taxes for the fiscal year on the same date totaled $2,211,180,412, as compared with $2,156,500,373 in the same period of the previous year. Customs receipts also have shown an increase this year, aggregating on June 24 $592,874,151, an increase of approximately $25,000,000 over the same period of 1928.

The government's total receipts to date in the fiscal year 1929 have amounted to $3,938,694,187, leaving a surplus on June 24 of $237,599,910. But expenditures that must come out before the end of the month are expected to cut this by approximately $50,000,000 or $70,000,000.

The interest in the surplus which last February for a time appeared to have been wiped out was due, treasury officials said, to the huge income tax payments, chiefly because of large transactions in trading in stocks.

HOOVER OFFERS PLACE ON FARM BOARD TO LEGG.

Washington, June 27 (P).—A place on the federal farm board has been offered by President Hoover to Alexander H. Legg, president of the International Harvester Company.

Uzarski Flies to Boat.

Albany, N. Y., June 27 (P).—Paul Uzarski, with several members of his training camp staff, left here at 11:30 a. m. E. D. T. in an amphibious plane to fly to New York for his bout with Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium tonight. The plane was due in New York at 1 p. m. E. D. T.

Merger negotiations under way would place all French aviation lines under one management.

Settle Lawsuit In Supreme Court

An equity action brought by Leighton W. Craft against Robert A. Smith of the town of Lloyd which was on trial in supreme court Wednesday before Judge McNamee was settled by stipulation this morning. Bernard F. Cecire appeared for plaintiff and Brianier & Elsworth for the defendant. It was the contention that a piece of property at Lattintown in the town of Lloyd has been transferred by the son-in-law to the father-in-law at an excessive figure. A house and five acres of land was involved in the transfer, and settlement was reached by stipulating that plaintiff and his wife execute a mortgage on the premises in question in the sum of $2,750 to the defendant, payable two years from date at 6 per cent interest, in settlement of the action. If the mortgage and bond are executed by July 5 an order of discontinuance will be issued, otherwise the trial of the action will be resumed at that time.

Plane Flies Alone While Flier Pumps

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., June 27 (P).—Captain Frank M. Hawks took off at 5:15 a. m. eastern daylight time on a round trip flight to Los Angeles. At Los Angeles Hawks expects to stop only long enough to refuel.

Hawks hoped to establish three records, that for the round trip, for east to west and west to east. The non-stop record to the Pacific coast is 24 hours 51 minutes established by the late C. B. D. Collier and Harry Tucker. The west to east record is 14 hours, 51 minutes established by himself.

The plane is capable of 155 miles an hour. Making the flight alone means that he will have to leave the plane for brief fifteen minutes of every hour while he pumps fuel from the main tank in the fuselage up to the wing tanks from which it will feed the motor by gravity.

McCarthy Eliminated.

Deal, N. J., June 27 (P).—Maurice McCarthy, Jr., of Georgetown, the defendant champion, was eliminated today in the third round of the national intercollegiate tournament by Tommy Aycock of Yale, one up.

ROYAL ANCESTRY.

No marked signs of kinship between William Shakespeare and Calvin Coolidge have been hitherto observed, but both are descended from Sir John de Hampten, who in turn traced back to Christenague, according to David Starr Jordan, principal author of a new book, "Your Family Tree." To what extent Prof. Jordan may be indebted to a big volume long in the large libraries entitled, "Americans of Royal Descent" is uncertain, but the last named work lists numerous American surnames among the round-about descendants of Edward I, Edward III and other English and French kings. Though one might expect the process of such royal-ancestor tracings to be difficult, it would appear to be marvelously easy.

To the doubt of the skeptical reader is added amusement at the extraordinary juxtaposition of names under a common royal ancestor. The distant kinship of Coolidge and Shakespeare is not the only example. President Thomas Jefferson and President John Adams would have been surprised, and perhaps not any too well pleased, to know that they had a common ancestor in King David I of Scotland. And will the aristocratic Harrisons of Virginia and Lowells of Massachusetts be particularly delighted to learn that they must share their descent from Henry I with both Abraham Lincoln and Grover Cleveland? Prof. Jordan's book is said to show that "practically every body of English descent" can be traced back to such prolific monarchs as Alfred the Great, William the Conqueror, Charlemagne and Robert Bruce. An honor so widely shared can hardly be described as a proud distinction. Prof. Jordan amusingly observes that to go back twelve centuries is to get about thirty million ancestors, which means descent from beggars and thieves as well as kings.

ANTARCTIC "GOLD".

Sir Douglas Mawson, who is to lead a scientific expedition to the Australian sector of Antarctica, is quoted in a dispatch from Sidney as saying that "Antarctica is not just a useless stretch of ice; it is like Alaska, from which the Americans have taken $300,000,000 pounds in gold." This is highly important if true, but less important in the matter of possible rich mineral discoveries than in the consequent possible controversy between nations—Including the United States and Great Britain—over rival claims to Antarctic territory. But do the indications so far known provide basis for expectation that in time it will be found true?

Sir Douglas Mawson is inaccurate, to begin with, on the subject of gold found in Alaska; the precious metals of all kinds mined there totaling at the end of 1928 but little more than $536,000,000. Although the dispatch states that Sir Douglas Mawson, professor of geology and mineralogy in the university of Adelaide, is "in possession of evidence proving Antarctica to be the storehouse of enormous mineral wealth," what he wrote after his expedition fifteen years ago did not convey that impression, merely showing that what he found "indicated the probability of mineral wealth beneath the continental ice cap." Indications of possible mineral and coal deposits have been seen by more than one expedition, but certainty of commercial value remains to be determined. Mawson's second investigation may have been prompted by the Byrd expedition, and it is significant that the dispatch attributes the territorial claims of nations to their belief in "vast mineral deposits."

Winners of the Roosevelt medal for public service this year include Owen Young, whose skill and personality have just brought the repudiation negotiations to a triumphant close, and Owen Winter, novelist and historian. A third recipient of the medal, possibly less known to the country as a whole, is a young man, a doctor, who has been named for his service in the war.

Best Putnam, the Librarian of Congress. In his 26 years of office Mr. Putnam has revolutionized the Congressional Library. Vast masses of important books have been added, and the resources already available have been made useful as never before. Not the least of his services is the establishment of a plan, now in successful operation for many years, whereby for a nominal charge, the Library of Congress catalogues books for the other libraries of the country. Every local library, and through it its community, can thus benefit from the wisdom and learning of the Library of Congress. Mr. Putnam is typical of many other public servants who behind the glare of the politicians do public work quietly and well. It is to such men that we owe the successful working of our government.

Abolish the rule of unanimity in jury trials. This recommendation has been made to the citizens' group that is trying, in one large city, to improve the court situation. The argument is that criminals of influence find it too easy to reach one or two jurors and thus make conviction impossible. This is not a radical innovation as might be supposed. Nine jurors out of twelve are sufficient, in several states, to reach a verdict in civil cases; and the complaint has arisen in consequence. Considering that the Chicago Crime Commission two or three years ago found that only a quarter of those indicted were convicted, it seems as if defendants in criminal cases might have enough chances of escape, even if the rule of unanimity were done away with.

STUDYING HUMAN BEHAVIOR.

When you were a youngster and misbehaved there was only one thought in your mind and that was that you'd have to "pay up" for it in some way.

If it was a thrashing, you took it, and that temporarily ended the matter.

If you decided to try and get out of the punishment you perhaps thought up ways and means, even excuses, to avoid the punishment entirely, or to get a "lighter" licking.

If you didn't get the whipping you likely received a "scolding," which likewise ended the matter for the time being.

Such a thing as having your teacher or your parent investigate matters to try and find out why you misbehaved was not even thought of.

However you and I are not just animals but human beings, and sometimes we are like the little girl that was very very good, or like the little boy who was very very bad.

We do not always measure up to what folks expect us to be, or to what we ourselves know we should be.

Now there is no question but that some of the things we say and do and of which we are ashamed are due to overwork, worry, fatigue, some hereditary trait, and most frequently to illness.

You can see how a man's behavior can affect different departments of life.

It seems only natural therefore to see the announcement of the establishment of an "Institute of Human Relations," and that $7,500,000 in gifts and subsidies is available for its use.

This institute will be affiliated with the Medical School, and also Law School, of Yale University, and perhaps other departments, so that students may be trained to think of their professions as concerning human beings rather than test tubes, statute books, codes or creeds.

This means that ministers, physicians, lawyers, social workers and others will use all the available knowledge of their respective call for the benefit of mankind as a whole.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

SYNOPSIS: The Duke of York, Lord, sir, from a must be, being in love with a lady as lovely as poor Nick. But the Duke, sir, if any man shall treat my Pen as a disgraceful one.

CHAPTER I
 WHIPPING A SCOUNDREL
 MEANWHILE Sir Richard, reaching the inn, made his way to a hind door, a small, discreet door in shadow and unexpected angle, that seemed to hide early from all chance observation. Taking a key from his pocket, he opened this door and stepped into a narrow passage, closed the door. Halfway along this passage he paused and slid aside a certain panel, discovering a dim flight of stairs, up which he mounted, the panel closing behind him, and so came into a small, odd-shaped chamber. Although this strange room possessed four doors, it had not so much as a single window. Upon oak table lay a horseman's cloak, very dusty, a pair of long-barreled pistols and a heavy riding-whip. Beholding these articles, Sir Richard laid his hand upon the latch of one door when from somewhere nearby rose a querulous, high-pitched voice:

Julian, shrieking and groaning, writhed under Richard's vicious blows.

"No, I refuse—I refuse, I say!"

Ensued now the smooth, soft murmur of another voice, whereat Sir Richard frowned and, crossing to a particular corner, lifted a section of the moulding, this disclosing a "Judas"—two peepholes whereby one might look into the neighbouring room.

At a table heavily laden with bottles, mostly empty, sat a gorgeous young gentleman, his face contorted by fearful despair. Behind him sat an older man, keen-eyed, high-nosed, intent, and, fronting these, stood a tall, elegantly slim, smiling creature, who seemed to dominate the situation. His face, modestly pale, was almost hidden in the blonde curls of his lofty wig. Though his lips smiled, his sleepy eyes were a menace.

"My dear Brocklehurst," he murmured, "I shall be happy to afford you another week, and then—"

"But you know—no must know—I would mean my ruination, Guyford!" and in the speaker's haggard eyes was sudden, glaring hate.

"My lord, you exaggerate the fact."

"It's true—'tis too devilish true!" cried his lordship. "Don't—no, don't push me too far, Guyford."

Sir Richard closed the Judas and, taking up the riding-whip, viewed it with thoughtful frown. Then a door opened suddenly and there entered a fine, handsome girl who wept; but, spying Sir Richard, she checked her sobs.

"Why, Penelope, lass, what's ailing?"

"'Tis Nick, sir; I come to hide his pistols."

"Nick? Are the officers on his heels again, or is he only drunk?"

Woodstock Play House Opening

A large delegation of Kingston residents are planning to visit Woodstock this evening for the opening of the new Woodstock Play House, and advance ticket reservations indicate unusual interest in the dedication of this new institution to the presentation of stage and screen entertainment.

The theatre is equipped to stage the most ambitious of productions and Manager David Reasoner and Director Don Mullally have spared no effort to provide a spectacular mounting for the opening presentation which is to be Eugene O'Neill's famous play, "The Emperor Jones."

This play attained world wide fame and is considered to be the best work of its author, who is generally recognized as America's greatest living dramatist.

Playing the leading role, that of Brutus Jones, will be the noted colored actor, Charles S. Gilpin. Gilpin was assigned the role when the play was first produced by the Provincetown Players and after playing it 1,600 consecutive times at the Princess Theatre, New York, he toured in the role for two and a half years throughout the United States and Canada.

In the supporting cast will be Farrell Kelly, formerly of the Irish Players, who will have the important role of Henry Smithers, the Cockney trader; Arthur Ames, as Lem the native chief; Alma Bynum, as the native woman; Broadon Main as the auctioneer and Charles E. Gradwell as the Witch Doctor. Also a number of supernumeraries will participate in the pantomime scenes as negro slaves, planters, prisoners, etc. The part of the Crocodile God will be played by Mr. Crocodile himself.

The scenic effects are the work of a number of prominent artists, residents of the Woodstock Colony, who have organized themselves as scene painters for the theatre under the title of The Gang.

Tickets for the three performances of tonight, tomorrow and Saturday evenings may be reserved at Cohen's Sons, Wall street, Kingston, and the New Shop, Woodstock. The curtain will rise at 8:45 p. m.

Arrangements have been made for adequate parking space for automobiles on a plot adjacent to the theatre entrance.

In a flash, in a jiffy
In the twinkling of an eye,

Can now be known in Ohio.

Just to know what London's weather's

He may safely say it's foggy.

Yes, and for your money on "My husband has no bad habits, whatsoever," boasted a wife. "He never drinks, and he spends all his evenings at home. Why, he doesn't even belong to a club."

"Does he smoke?" inquired a friend.

"Only in moderation. He likes a cigar, after he has had a good dinner, but I don't suppose he smokes two cigars a month."

Man would be in a sad plight if he knew as little about everything as he does what to do with a sick dog.

"What is a cannibal?"

"One who loves his fellow men."

Force of Example Too Great.

As to late plowing we are of the opinion that plowing should not be continued later than 10 or 11 o'clock at night. It gets the horses into the habit of staying out late, and unduly exposes the plow.—Bladen, Neb., Enterprise.

I may sit beside you all the journey through.

Or I may sit elsewhere, never knowing you. But if fate should mark me to sit by your side.

The Tables Turned.

He was one of those smart men who like to show off their cleverness. "Watch me take a rise out of him," he said, as the tramp approached. Then he listened solemnly to the tale of hard luck.

"That's the same old story you told me the last time you accosted me," he said, when the vagrant had finished.

"Is it?" was the answering question. "When did I tell it to you?"

"Last week."

"Mebbe I did, mebbe I did," admitted the tramp. "I'd forgotten meeting you. I was in prison all last week."

The wife of a famous bishop—whom we shall call John Smith—was recently very ill, and required a serious operation. As she recovered from the anesthetic she was heard to murmur: "Am I in heaven? Am I in heaven? No, there's John."

Advance Sales Give Women a Distinct Advantage This Season.

New York—Most women are struck with the opportunities early sales of summer finery are providing. Good looking dresses may be bought at unprecedented prices and women should be quick to take advantage of this and to stock their wardrobes to overflowing with prints in a diversity of colors and designs and with other frocks as well.

"Tennis frocks" are purchased by women who have no thought of playing the game. They are the new version of the sleeveless sports frocks often on soft lines and might as well be termed tennis frocks as anything else. Many of these are cut low at the back and most of them are entirely sleeveless. A majority of so-called sleeveless summer frocks have deep bertha collars which may be worn over the coat, whether it matches or not.

Straw hats have roughened up a bit, the rage for balbrunt and such straws giving way a little before the avalanche of attractive rougher straws which have the sponsorship of Paris and are accepted as correct with printed chiffon dress, a type of dress reported from Paris as having to a great extent replaced printed crepes. The salient feature of these street chiffon frocks is that they are evenly hemmed, and are being selected in a street color, range, notably beige on white or white on beige, or shades of blue with white, a combination very much in the public eye. All shades of blue are being reported from the smartest places and given as having dominance over night as well as day colors. Hats are of course beginning to reflect these tones.

The fidelity women show to light weight woollens even at this season bespeaks their prestige for more reasonable weather. Smart travelers have a penchant for woolen, and flannel is being worn for sports occasions as well as in town. Women leap from wool to cotton with alacrity and never have wardrobes shown such a diversity of materials, nor colors for that matter. Added to the already long list of fashionable colors, are those of the Spanish flag plus black for fashion has gone quite Spanish especially as to hats. Black is still mentioned in Paris reports as very smart for town wear. It is frequently relieved by white.

The raised waistline and fitted hip, often forming a yoke, is another item underscored in Paris reports, while long gloves elegantly crinkled over the wrist are in tune with other fastidious fads. Black, white kid or nude antelope are the glove preference and a bracelet or two may be worn over the glove.

A confirmation of the trend toward princess and other molded lines was given by the smart social event in New York during the week. Dresses distinctly outlining the natural figure, and have their fulness distributed at a low line, with the question of irregularity of length becoming personal one. All smart evening dresses are long, and some are still irregular but there is no hard and fast rule in the matter.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, June 27.—Several from here attended the commencement exercises at Wallkill on Monday evening. Corrine Wilkin and Helena Sutton, both of this place being graduates.

Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening, June 30. Topic, "Heroes for Christ." Isa. 61:1-8; Matt. 11:7-10; John 18:1-9.

There will be a festival Thursday evening, June 27. Supper served at 6 o'clock. The Arcadians orchestra of Newburgh will furnish music.

The Young Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. Gerow Wilkin Saturday afternoon, June 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hatt and daughter, Doris, Mr. Arnoise of Middletown and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Dunsberry of Gardiner spent Sunday with Mrs. Isaac Sutton and daughter.

There will be preaching services Sunday morning, June 30, at 11 a. m. standard time. The Rev. Sheldon Vandenberg will occupy the pulpit and will take for his text "Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother." Mr. Vandenberg requests that the young people and children make a special effort to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Decker and Mr. and Mrs. Town of Newburgh called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sherwood last Sunday evening.

Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker is quite ill at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh.

Ellis Ansd. Reindeer, Fairbanks, Alaska (AP).—A charter has been granted a group of B. P. O. E. here, the lodge boasting of being the "hardest north" of all Elks.

Black broadcloth coats with shawl lamb or astrakhan trim are almost sure to be as good for fall as they were for early spring. Sketched one of Jennie's newest models with big cuffs.

Eleanor Gunn Says

That the "tennis frock," whether or not one plays tennis deserves a place in every wardrobe.

Embroidered organdie over taffeta, and chiffon plain or printed over taffeta are introduced as an elegant note for summer evenings.

The shawl has been given a new lease of smart life through the general interest in Spanish styles.

The normal waistline arrives for those who can wear it.

Shantung, pongee and silks of this ilk are reclaimed for sleeveless dresses and for jacket costumes.

Shetland sweaters have also been reclaimed.

Printed moire is among the formal silks being used, not only for evening dresses but short wraps either in jacket or cape theme.

The blue family which has been credited as the first in social favor for evening, is also being enthusiastically taken up by milliners—navy, sapphire, baby blue and aquamarine are a few of the several blues being exploited.

Rough straws as a complement to printed frocks are the newer note.

Green, white, iris and peach lingerie is given by the smart shops as the color preference of the brides of the month.

Night gown ensembles consist of a matching coat and nightgown both usually trimmed with lace.

The circular theme not only in costume slips, but in night dresses is much in evidence, while pajamas for both beach and lounging purposes have a distinctly flare below the knee.

6526. This charming creation may be finished without the fichu collar and sleeves. As pictured in the large view, printed chiffon was used. The long waist portions are gathered so as to blouse above a fitted hip yoke, to which the flounces and a foundation skirt are joined. The yoke is shaped in a split curve in front. The long sleeve is set in at the regulation arm-hole. Without the sleeve the shoulder is cut long over the top of the arm. Handkerchief linen, or sephyr are also suggested for this model.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. To make the dress with long sleeves for an 18-year-size will require 6 yards, 36 inches wide or wider. If the collar is made of contrasting material it will require 1/2 yard 35 inches wide. If the dress is made without sleeves it will require 5 1/2 yards. The ribbon bow requires 1 1/2 yard. The width of the foundation skirt at the lower edge is 1 1/2 yard. The width of the lower flounce with fullness extended is 3 1/2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Daylight screens have been developed to a point where it is possible to project pictures on them to the diffused daylight of a room with thoroughly satisfactory results. To do this requires protection from the rear of the screen. Darkness is required back of the screen between the projector and screen.

Nothing else is "just the same" as OXOL.

OXOL is more than merely a cleanser for laundry use.

True, it whitens clothes, removes stains and makes the clothes spotlessly clean. Yet, OXOL has many other household uses because it is a Cleanser, Disinfectant, Deodorant and Germicide—all in one.

There isn't a room in the house, from cellar to roof, where OXOL can't be used. Nor is there a household cleaning job too hard for OXOL.

So... if you're told something else is "just the same," tell your grocer: "No! I want OXOL for my housecleaning." And insist on getting it!

Earliest Use of Iron
Specimens of iron have been found in Assyrian and Egyptian ruins. In the British museum there is a piece of iron believed to date from about 4000 B. C. In the Black Pyramid of Abnir, at least 3000 B. C., Gaston Mapparo found some pieces of iron, and in the funeral text of Tefi I (about 3400 B. C.) the metal was mentioned. The knowledge of iron spread from the south to the north of Europe, and one theory is that iron first came into use in Africa.

ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

sets new standard of

DURABILITY EFFICIENCY POPULARITY

AN efficient cabinet that cannot warp. A mechanism that is hermetically sealed, damp-proof and self-cleaning. No wonder the General Electric Refrigerator has set new standards! It actually operates more quietly—it uses less current, it provides for maximum food storage.

And—important to busy housewives, it operates automatically, regulating itself so that the temperature is always within the safety zone—several degrees below 54.

These new all-steel models are remarkably low in price, beginning at $215 at the factory. They are as durable as a safe and cannot warp. They keep cold from seeping out and heat from creeping in.

Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel models and learn how easily they may be bought with conveniently spaced time payments.

LOST RADIUM IS FOUND UNDER RESTAURANT TABLE

Valuable and Dangerous Substance Left in Taxi is Returned to Doctor.

New York.—Radium valued at $30,000 rode through the streets of New York in a taxi cab, was kicked about under a table in East Twenty-seventh street and finally was returned to its owner before any serious damage was done.

Dr. Joseph Jordan Eller, a skin specialist, and his two assistants left the radium in a taxi cab when they reached the Post Graduate hospital, Second avenue and Twenty-first street. Each thought the other had picked up the satchel containing the radium, and the taxi got away before they could recover it. They reported their loss to the police.

Some time later, according to Detective Lieut. Michael McDermott, the taxi driver picked up another fare. The driver apparently knew nothing of the satchel in his cab. The second fare, McDermott believed, picked up the satchel when he left the cab and entered the Silver King restaurant. There he was joined by others, and they dined, the small fortune in radium reposing on the floor, under the table.

For almost two hours the diners lingered, and then departed. They, too, forgot the satchel. Near midnight a waiter spied it, far back against the wall, where it had been kicked, but still under the table. He turned it over to the manager, Mr. Acampora, who decided the man who had lost it would return. He placed it beneath the cashier's desk and there it reposed throughout the night. Lieut. McDermott says there were no clues to the taxi driver or the person who picked up the bag and lost it. Later McDermott was called to the phone and the restaurant manager said he had read of a physician's bag being lost. The bag was taken to the East Twenty-third street station and Doctor Eller notified. Doctor Ryan, one of Doctor Eller's assistants, identified the missing satchel, found the contents were intact, and took it to his office.

The radium is the property of Doctor Eller, who bought it some years ago for $25,000. The value of radium has decreased since so that the 500 milligrams in the bag are now worth $20,000. Doctor Eller and his assistants have charge of the free skin clinic in the Post Graduate hospital and Doctor Eller furnishes the radium free. They devote five afternoons each week at the hospital, treating an average of 150 persons a day.

"In 500 milligrams of radium there lies much danger to the inexperienced," said a Post Graduate hospital physician. "If one of the needles containing the radium lost by Doctor Eller were placed in one's pocket and carried for a few hours, it would produce a radium ulcer, which, if not cleanly cut out, would result in cancer."

Good St. Nicholas

St. Nicholas was the patron saint of Russia. He was the bishop of Myra in Lycia in the Fourth century. He is regarded as the patron saint of merchants and travelers by sea and land, but also especially of the young and of scholars. Hence his festival, December 6, was formerly celebrated in the English schools, and still survives in the Santa Claus of Christmas rejoicings.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, June 27.—(Special Staff Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—Fancy Big Boston lettuce was eagerly sought on the wholesale market today and prices advanced slightly. Unattractive stock received scant attention even at low figures. Trucked in supplies from Oswego county, New York, packed in crates of 24 heads, peddled out at $1.10. Most of the business, however, was transacted at 75c-$1.25. One year ago Oswego county lettuce sold at 40c-$1.00.

Receipts of strawberries from the Hudson valley were limited and moderate from Oswego county, New York. Quality ranged widely. The outlet was generally limited particularly on off-grade fruit. Hudson valley stock brought 10c-20c a quart.

Oswego county offerings commanded 10c-20c.

Red currants were more plentiful from the Hudson valley. A large percentage of the currants showed small size and were green and not a desirable quality. Currants were whole, packed at 10c-15c for the best and 10c-15c for the poorest.

Supplies of celery from Oswego county were fairly plentiful. The market was moderate and prices were very much lower.

Green peas are appearing in car lots from Erie and Madison counties of this state. The peas from the former county showed fair quality and were sold at $2.10-$2.20 a bushel. Peas from Madison county, principally from $2.00-$2.10, principal.

Supplies of Hudson valley cherries are increasing steadily. The fruit varied greatly in quality and value, ranging from 10c-15c a quart. Some of the cherries peddled out as follows: Black 10c-15c, red 10c-15c, and white 10c-15c. Sour cherries in similar containers brought 10c-15c. Red raspberries from the Hudson Valley are becoming more plentiful. The demand was moderate and the market ruled steady with values ranging upward. First baskets realized 10c-15c. New Jersey offerings sold at 10c-15c.

The market was without decided change on Hudson valley gooseberries. Supplies were moderate and the demand was slow and confined to fancy large. Jobbing sales were estimated as high as 20c and 10c-15c.

Drains Enrich the Soil

The vast sandy plain on which Berlin is situated provides a soil adapted to the working of the famous Berlin drainage system, established in 1874. Pumps send sewage from the city by radiating mains to surrounding farms, 4,000 acres of which are under municipal control. All are under sanitary supervision.

Financial and Commercial
New York, June 27 (AP)—Disregarding the prospect of a large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, the stock market today continued its recovery with trading again in brisk volume. Buying orders were distributed over a fairly broad list, but the public utilities, chemicals, electrical equipment, merchandising and rail shares presented the most outstanding points of strength. Revival of activity and strength in the oil shares was one of the interesting features.
Call money remained unchanged at 10 per cent. Although the supply at that figure was relatively small, the rate was expected by money brokers to hold through the day. Offerings of time money were more liberal, but there was no change in rates.
Importation of an additional $5-600,000 in gold from England was announced during the day by the Irving Trust Company.
Except for the declaration of extra dividends on the Barnsdall issues, the announcement of the Wright-Curries Airplane merger and another series of favorable May railroad statements, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement.
Persistent buying of the high grade rails and industrials was attributed, in part, to buying by investment trusts and large insurance companies.

The Y DAIRY
CURB DISCOVERED FOR ONION PEST
Surest Way to Prevent Flavors in Cows' Milk.
Although onions and garlic appear early in the spring and soon disappear, they last for long enough to cause considerable trouble to milk producers. Observation has shown that if a cow eats a pound of onion tops, about two hours must elapse before her milk will be free from undesirable flavors.
It is not difficult, says F. H. Burton, assistant professor of dairy industry, at Rutgers university, to perceive how some cows might get even more than a pound of onion tops in a day's feeding, and thereby require probably four hours before her milk becomes normal in flavor.
Many dairymen believe that the surest remedy for preventing onion and garlic flavors in milk and cream is to keep the cows in pastures where the obnoxious plants do not grow.
Where the infestation is small in area, some men eradicate the plants by spraying with orchard heating oil.
The oil destroys the plants entirely.
Large areas of infested land, however, are usually cleared by fall and spring plowing and then cropping the land for three or four years with such crops as corn, potatoes, soy beans and cowpeas.
Another common practice in the production of milk free from onion flavor is to leave the cows on infested pasture only for limited periods each day, until the grass advances to such extent that it supplies the wants of the animals.

Different Essentials of Profitable Ration Dairy cows are equipped with a large stomach, divided into four compartments. Nature intended this large compartment as a store house for roughages and gave the cow the power of rechewing the food that had been hurriedly collected in large amounts. Concentrates were not listed in the cow's original bill of fare.
Alfalfa, clover and ensilage are the three farm roughages that will furnish more pounds of digestible nutrients per acre than can be produced by any other crops. Since the dairy cow was designed to handle large amounts of roughage let these bulky feeds furnish the basis of her ration. Such roughages as there are the basis of economic feeding.
Bulkiness should also be considered when making up the grain ration.
Have the mixture made up, in part, of bulky grains. When feeding large amounts of grain to heavy-producing cows keep the ration bulky. It is better to feed more pounds of a lightweight feed low in protein, than to use too heavy protein feeds. Where grain rations are heavy, weighing more than one and one-quarter pounds to a quart, it may be desirable to feed the grain with some bulky feed such as ensilage, beet pulp or sliced roots.

Dairy Hints
A dairy barn should be white-washed at least once a year.
Pure breeds of good quality do better in the feed lot than scrubs or common stock.
There are more dairymen who have been using soy beans this past winter than ever before.
A goal of 8,000 to 12,000 pounds of milk per cow is a reasonable aim for the average dairyman.
Off-flavor in milk can usually be avoided by milking the cows before feeding them instead of after.
There never was a cow so scruffy
as to feed her calf oleomargarine.
How some humans have degenerated.
Dairy herd improvement association records are becoming more and more necessary to the successful sale of surplus females.
Pails and cans after they are washed and sterilized should be inverted to drain and dry in a clean place, preferably inside the milkhouse.
Cows show their appreciation of good care by increased production.
Provide plenty of bedding, balanced and abundant rations, a supply of salt.

Perfect Female Figure
One compilation of measurements for the perfect female figure is as follows: Neck, 12 1/2 inches; bust, 36 inches; waist, 26 inches; hip, 34 inches; thigh, 20 inches; knee, 14 inches;
calf, 13 1/2 inches; ankle, 8 inches; upper arm, 10 1/2 inches; forearm, 9 inches; wrist, 6 inches; height, 5 feet 6 inches; weight, 133 pounds.

Lamb—Steady to firm; good and choice $14.00-15.00; medium $12.75-13.75; cull and common $10.00-11.00.
Sheep—Steady; ewes, medium and choice $5.50-7.50; cull and com-

Hogs—Steady; 85-110 pounds

$11.50-11.75; 165-220 pounds
$11.75-12.00; sows rough $8.50-9.25.
At the Massachusetts experiment station the addition of potatoes to a balanced ration containing no sugar increased the milk production. Their conclusion was that raw potatoes fed to dairy cattle up to 25 pounds per day per head was both safe and practical.

ADVANCE
The origin of brief writing, or "shorthand," is clouded in mystery. No authentic record exists establishing its practical use much before the first century B. C. From that period until about 300 A. D. the art flourished throughout the Roman empire. The secretary and librarians of Cicero, Marcus Tullius Tiro, was the pioneer of shorthand in Roman times and was made by the leaders in the church and by government officials. Church dignities who made conspicuous use of shorthand were St. Augustine, Origen and St. Jerome. All the Roman em-perors employed shorthand secretaries.
Several emperors attempted to learn it.

Co-Talet Team Score Win Over Manhattan Nine

Joe Nichols, pitching for the Columbia-Talet combination, held the Manhattan nine to one hit Wednesday while his teammates hit Eddie Stauble's offerings often, to hand the Manhattan a 5-0 whitewashing at the Athletic Field in the opening game of the second half of the Industrial League. The original opening was scheduled for Monday, but was postponed on account of the boat races.

The only hit to be made off Nichols came in the sixth inning, a two-base blow by Dawkins, which incidentally was the longest hit of the game. Dawkins managed to reach third base on a passed ball, but was unable to score, being thrown out at home when Fox hit to the pitcher.

Three other Manhattan got on the bags, Fox reaching first twice, once by way of an error and once by a fielder's choice. Eddie Stauble got as far as second in the last inning.

Keller, Houghtaling, Tomasek and Lewis, the first four batters of the Colets, proved Stauble's undoing, each one connecting safely twice. The quartet also scored all of the Colets' runs, Tomasek registering three times, while the other three crossed the rubber twice.

The Colets started to score in the first inning and before the inning was over they had three runs to their credit. Hits by Keller, Houghtaling and Ballard, a fielder's choice and Keegan's sacrifice fly accounted for the runs.

Keller and Houghtaling again hit singles in the second inning and Tomasek was passed, loading the bases. Lewis hit a Texas League over the short stop and Keller and Houghtaling scored. Tomasek and Lewis executed a double steal and scored on Geary's error. Geary made a clean pickup of Dugan's grounder, but heaved it wild over the first baseman's head.

Singles by Tomasek, Lewis and Keegan gave the Colets their final two runs in the fourth.

SIDELINERS.

The Manhattan were unable to get two men on the bases in the same inning.

It was Nichols' second good performance in his last two starts. Last week he held Hercules to four hits, although he was beaten 4-3 in an overtime contest.

The Dwyer half of the Manhattan combination withdrew from the team. The Universal Mfg. Co. is contemplating on taking Dwyer's place.

Stan Wojcik, Colets' third baseman, who is on the injured list, had a good understudy in Tommy Lewis, who handled six chances without a misplay.

JOHNSON'S GREAT PITCHING STUNT

Three Victories Over Highlanders Stand Out

His three shortest victories on consecutive days against the New York Highlanders in 1928 stand out as one of the greatest pitching feats of Walter Johnson's 29 years on the mound for Washington.

Johnson, whose twentieth anniversary in the big leagues will be observed on August 2, readily admits that those 27 scoreless innings gave him one of the biggest thrills in his colorful career.

Just as rookie was Johnson then, strong as an ox and possessed of blinding speed, and he eagerly jumped at the chance to work so often against New York when Manager Cantillon asked him to do so because of injuries to a trio of Washington pitchers.

Johnson faced Chebro in the first game and triumphed, 3-0. He was the next day by a 6-0 score and, after resting Sunday because no games were played on Sunday then, he worked in the first game of Monday's double-header and again registered a shutout win.

This feat might have been four straight scoreless victories had not Johnson been injured by a pitched ball. He was ready to start the fourth successive game of the series, but Manager Cantillon refused to let him go in because of his injury.

"That," says Johnson, "is the only time in my career I was ever called upon to pitch so many games during one series, and I doubt very much if I could do the same stunt again. Father Time doesn't stand for such tricks, you know."

Ty Turns to Golf

Ty Cobb, for 20 years a star of the diamond, has turned to golf. This is one of the first pictures made of him on the golf course at the Forest Hills club near Augusta. During his diamond career Cobb said he'd never play golf because he thought the game would spoil his batting eye. Now he's retired from the ball field and golf pros say his eye is just as keen on the fairway. He's never missed the elusive pill yet.

Horse Racing Will Not Be Held in City

Owing to Fact That Several Other Cities Dropped Out of Circuit and Enough Entries Could Not Be Obtained for Races Here, Some Will Be Held.

It was announced late Wednesday afternoon that the horse races that were planned to have been held at the Kingston Driving Park on August 14, 15 and 16, will not be held, and no horse racing will be staged here this year.

The calling off of the races is due to the fact that several other cities had dropped out of the circuit and not enough entries could be obtained for the various races that were to have been held.

The fact that there will be no horse racing here next August will prove a disappointment to the racing fans.

"Mike" Miles to Coach Grid at Georgia Tech

Oliver "Mike" Miles, last fall's Tiger fullback, has accepted the offer made him by Georgia Tech to become backfield coach, he states.

Miles journeyed to the home of the Yellow Jackets at the request of the Tech Athletic association. No contract was signed, Miles said, but arrangements were otherwise completed and the contract is being mailed.

The agreement calls for Miles' reporting for his new position on September 1. He would not divulge the length of his contract, but it is understood he will be in charge of Tech backfields for a two or three-year period.

The tutor being replaced by Miles is Don Miller, one of the famous "four horsemen" who carried Notre Dame to intercollegiate gridiron heights. Miller is coaching at Ohio State.

This makes the fourth member of the 1928 Princeton team who is going to enter upon a coaching career after graduation this year. Capt. Chuck Howe, center, and Johnny Stinson, wingman, are going to report to head coach Bill Roper of Princeton on September 15. Joe Caldwell, Nassau line-man, is going to help his brother, Charley, coach at Williams.

Old Ned Hanlon Boosts Chicago Cubs and Ruth

Ned Hanlon, owner and manager of the Orioles when they were the sensation of the country, is still interested in baseball.

"The Cubs look like a great ball club," he said. "When they lose it is a close one and they are always pounding the ball. They lose a game and then win three or four. Nobody makes a big difference to the team. He is a great hitter. It looks like they traded him right into another world's series."

But of Ruth he waxes more eloquent. He has always been a great follower of the Bambino. The Babe originated in Baltimore.

"Babe is a marvelous player and I love to watch him," Hanlon confessed. "You never see him do anything wrong. He is the greatest hitter in the game, one of the best hitters, and he has been stronger he would have been one of the best base runners baseball has known."

"In the Last Stand"

In the darkest hour of the night, Ned Hanlon, owner and manager of the Orioles, was the only one who was not asleep. He was sitting up in bed, watching the game on the radio. He was the only one who was not asleep.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By William J. Chipman, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The lead of the Athletics seems to grow almost by magic, but National League contenders continue to butt their heads against one another, with no particular gain for anybody while the Pirates were losing and the Giants winning in John Heydler's circuit yesterday, the Mackmen were cleaning up their fourth straight from the defenseless Red Sox and the Yankees were dividing a pair at Washington.

These antics combined to place the Athletics at a point ten and one-half games in advance of the champions. The leaders and the runners-up are to open a three-game series against each other in Philadelphia today.

One hopeful note, for the champions, stood out in their even break at Griffith Stadium. Herb Pennock pitched his second complete game of the season in winning the opener by 7 to 6, and gave Washington but seven hits. Just when the Yanks were gloating over their good luck, Washington won the second game, 4 to 3.

The Athletics varied their program somewhat by playing a close one with the Red Sox. The Bostonese, as a matter of fact, out-hit the Mackmen by 11 to 8, but the leaders cashed in on runs by 6 to 5.

The Browns defeated Cleveland by 6 to 2, and ended a virtual tie with the Yankees for second place. The White Sox rallied in the ninth to defeat the Tigers at Detroit by 5 to 3.

The Giants finally pulled one game from the Brooklyn fire, after the Robins had taken three in the series. The pulling was done by 3 to 2 in eleven innings at the expense of Dazzy Vance.

A five-run assault upon Remy Kremer in the sixth enabled the Reds to defeat the Pirates by 6 to 4, and since the Cubs and the Cardinals were not scheduled to play, all first division hands gained on the Buccaneers. The Pirate lead over the Cubs now is only one game.

The Phillies snapped further out of their recent doldrums, taking two games from the Braves, 6 to 0 and 5 to 2.

Leto, Von Reeldon Victorious in East

Tony Leto of the former Walk Miller boxers' camp at Edenville decisively defeated Mike Esposito in the main 16-round bout at the Hartford Stadium, Hartford, Conn., Wednesday night. Charlie Von Reeldon, conqueror of Billy McAllister, Australian bantamweight champion, rolled up an eight round victory over Eddie Reid in the eight-round semi-final.

The Leto-Esposito fight packed the stadium as the eastern coast fans were eager to see the two, who had mixed it last winter, meet for their second bout of spectacular milling. Leto chalked up a very popular decision over Esposito, "the pride of Connecticut," who was given the verdict over Leto after their first meeting.

As Esposito craves another match with Tony, the two likely will fight the main 16 at the Kingston Fair Grounds when Bill Singer and Jess McMahon start their open air shows here some time in July, probably the 11th or 12th.

Although Charlie Von Reeldon beat Reid in every round, it was said, the boy from the east is seeking another crack at Charlie. Singer may give him a chance to do so in Kingston. However, in the event that the match does not materialize Von Reeldon will fight here against a boy from New York City.

Jess McMahon is anxious to bring some of his best boys to Kingston. The opening card at the Fair Grounds promises to be one equal to top-notch attractions of the metropolis, so the park is expected to be crowded to capacity.

Kelly No "Setup" For Sidders

George Sidders, who conquered Mickey McVeigh at the local armory, and has to his credit wins over some of the best boys in the National Guard, will face one of the hardest men he ever fought on Friday night when he meets Spider Kelly of Kansas City at the local armory.

In the fight, which is slated for 10-rounds and will top the card of bouts, Kelly expects to show Kingston fans the brand of action that has netted him wins over some real clever boys, most of whom he beat via the kayo route. Walter Page, "Shrimp" Logan, Jimmy Ryne and Jack Hurley are among the boys that he knocked out. He holds a decision over Joe Curry, a boy that fought main goes at Woodcliff Park stadium last summer.

The Kelly-Sidders fight promises to be one of the best ever fought in Kingston, so those who like the punch 'em pastime are advised to get their reserved seats now and those contemplating using the bleachers to be at the armory early if they wish a seat.

Presents Legion Prizes
There was one interesting feature of the afternoon not on the printed program, and that was the presentation of the medal and button of the Legion of the American Legion to a pupil graduating in January and another in June who wrote the best letters on "American History." Dr. Michael announced that the presentation would be by one who had been overseas, one who in the late war had done his part to defend the United States of America, Charles De La Vergne. In behalf of Commander Jacob and the Post, Mr. De La Vergne presented a medal and button to Anna, first of the January graduating class of School No. 5 and another to Harry T. Gummer of the June graduating class of School No. 6.

Dr. Michael's Advice To Graduates.
Dr. Michael said that he regretted that President Fleming of the Board of Education had been suddenly called to New York and could not be present to present the diplomas. So, in himself presenting them, Dr. Michael said that he could not refrain from giving one piece of advice to the graduates whom he congratulated. Expecting most of them to come to the High School in September, he warned them of the opportunity and temptation they would meet to neglect their work because of their interest in the many other school activities. Only those who could survive during the next four years could come to that important epoch in their lives when they would be entitled to again sit on the same stage and as Seniors of the High School receive their diplomas from the Board of Education, made possible by the City of Kingston. And then Dr. Michael said one more very important word. It was that if any students before him had appointments with teachers, supervisors, at the office, they should see to it that they keep such appointments promptly. He said he spoke feelingly, for before him there should have been sixty boys and girls in the Grade School Orchestra. Only twenty faithful ones were there. "Where are the others, and why are they not here?" asked Superintendent Michael. They had an appointment to be there and to attend the preceding rehearsal. Who was to blame for such lack of fidelity, the pupils or their parents, Dr. Michael did not know but he did know that each pupil not there had lost something of real importance to him or her by the failure to be reliable and dependable, without which qualities success is not reached. After giving

NEW PALTS
New Palts, June 27.—Miss Elaine Kniffen is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Van Vleet, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest D. Miller, in Newburgh. Peter's pavilion on the New Palts Springtown road, was visited by a delegation of firemen who motored from South Jersey. Dinner was served and games played. This annual outing was greatly enjoyed by the happy men.

The Old Homestead, Slater's farm, has several summer boarders, and they are well booked for July and August. They can easily accommodate 60 boarders.

Stella Polhemus and Teresa Burns, who were graduated from the Normal, are spending their vacations at their homes in Hopewell Junction, Dutchess county.

A special school meeting was held at the Springtown chapel on Thursday evening, June 13, and was largely attended. The interesting speaker of the evening was the Hon. James Harris, field official from the Education Department of Albany. At the close of the meeting a straw vote was taken, 17 to 1, in favor of the consolidation with the New Palts High School.

Mrs. E. Mathiesen is spending a few days in New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Delancey Hasbrouck spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Deyo in Springtown.

Colonial Theatre is to be "sprayed" with sound by R. C. A. Photophone. Many novel features in talking picture reproduction are promised by Colonial Hall Theatre now being equipped with the R. C. A. photophone system of sound reproduction. The house will be virtually "sprayed" with sound, according to the installation engineer of R. C. A. Photophone, Inc., who is here to supervise the corps of engineers, acoustical experts and electricians engaged in installing sound reproduction equipment. Talking motion pictures will be included in the program beginning with the week of July 1.

How "Teddy Bears" Got Their Well-Known Name
About 1898 Margaret Steiff, a crippled dressmaker living in a little village in Germany, used some left-over material to make a toy bear for a child. The bear was popular and other children in the community immediately wanted rag bears. Margaret's brother, Richard Steiff, began the commercial possibilities of these toys and put them on the market. George Borgfeldt & Co. of New York imported some in 1902. At that time, of course, they were not called teddy bears and nobody thought of associating them with Roosevelt. It so happened, however, that President Roosevelt went on a hunting trip to Mississippi that same fall. The president stated that "Teddy" had refused to let him kill. This inspired Clifford K. Berryman, the cartoonist, to draw a cartoon picturing Colonel Roosevelt as a man who is dragging his back with a rope around his neck. Roosevelt, with his gun in his right hand, has his left hand raised after the fashion of a traffic cop to indicate his objection to the procedure. The cartoon is labeled "Drawing the Line in Mississippi." It was a popular hit and Berryman adopted the bear as his cartoon mascot.—Pathfinder Magazine.
